Input devices are taking a step backwards: from the high-tech to the natural. Can society unlearn a 30 year old paradigm in favor of a more natural and available one?

Join industry pioneers Alex Kipman, Stephen Lake, Palmer Luckey, David Coz, and John Hanke as they review the challenges they faced in introducing thier products to market, thier experiences, and where they see the industry heading in the next five years.

H'ordeuvres and light refreshments will be provided.
